The meeting was called to order by Chairman Murphy at 9:04. It was an organizational and orientation meeting for the new members of the committee. Chairman Murphy explained that Mr. Andrew Grose, Research Director for the Legislative Counsel Bureau was assigned to the Government Affairs committees as research staff and that he had been asked to prepare a history of the issue of collective bargaining for use by the committee members.

The committee then discussed the Standing Rules of the 1975 Taxation Committee and decided to adopt them as the Standing Rules of the 1977 Government Affairs Committee with a few changes. The rules are attached to these minutes.

Chairman Murphy reminded the committee that an unwritten rule of the committee was to be that all visitors are to be treated with the utmost courtesy and that the basic operation of the committee would be to treat all legislation fairly and openly. The Chairman added that a minority report from the committee would be accepted if the occasion should arise.
