The periods of service now authorized tax exemption is set to periods of major armed conflict since World War II. I submit that since 1946 there has not been a day gone by that a member of the US Armed Forces, some where, some how has not been subjected to armed conflict. The troops were deployed in harms way could have been shoot at. A few examples of troops actually being shot at during times that are not presently covered are:

1920's US Army troops guarding trains in Russia

1930's US Marine Corps in Central America

1946-1950: US Army Advisors to Republic of Korea Armed forces, US Army patrolling the Iron Curtain and US Air Force patrolling air lanes to Berlin in Europe;

1956-1961: US Army Troops on the Korean Demilitarized Zone:

1980's: US Armed Forces in Panama & Grenada;
