- Q1 Programming

Venturing out to take a head count of sage grouse on a newly discovered, and very significant, sage grouse strutting ground, or lek, NDOW biologists and volunteers got a first hand reminder that early morning rising is for the birds – literally. The ultimate goal: to observe, count, band and radio-collar a sampling of the sage grouse as part of an ongoing state-wide sage grouse conservation effort to determine how the birds are doing in Nevada.
